HTML Session Plan Week 4

This week we are going to allow our website to change after it is rendered by using the following CSS tricks:
• :hover
• Overflow
• Hidden
• Opacity

You should insure the kids are familiar with the css you have done before as next week you can start on a fully website with menus(maybe even a drop down!), embedded content, getting them to decide there own positioning, working with multiple divs in the same space, using div classes to change the style of the menubar and any other features you can think of!
